

The Clowns are:

Georgia Huber, age 39, has studied professional acting and then discovered her funny side. As a member of the clown doctors, Bavaria she performs regularly for children in hospitals. She is a member of the CWB since many years.

Alexander Strauß, age 42, is a professional dancer, freelancer and member of the clown doctors, Bavaria. Alexander is Austrian but doesn't complain.

Christine Berger, age 41, earned her clown diploma in 2011 and has since gained some practical experience in her native region of Niederbayern. It's her first trip with CWB – she's the new kid on the block.

Andreas Schantz, age 44, is an artist, actor and clown. For over ten years he has been creating and performing his own theatre productions and is a long time member of clown doctors and the CWB.

Stefan Knoll, age 46, is not only a talented clown but also a gifted musician. Stefan plays and sings in a band making jewish Klezmer music popular beyond the borders of Bavaria.

The clowns are supported by:

Manfred Lehner, age 58, is a photographer. Manfred has already been participating in the recent trips of Clowns Without Borders and his photographs capture the spirit and atmosphere created by the clowns during the performances.

Herbert Thomas, age 42, is a tour manager. It's Herbert's first trip with Clowns Without Borders and as an American he believes that playing for Indian children takes him back to the US. As a matter of fact he still believes that Delhi is somewhere in Missouri.

All the clowns live in or near Munich in the state of Bavaria.
